

Philosophy Art Slam!

This year's Philosophy Slam topic is, "What is the Meaning of Life?"

Your goal for the art slam is to create a work of art that gives an ANSWER to the question that the philosophy slam poses.

You should have an idea of what you think gives meaning to life, and you should show your response by creating a thoughtful work of art.

Requirements:

- Your art must be on an 8.5x11 inch piece of printer paper or fit on printer paper.
 - You may use different types of mediums to create your work by hand.
 - For example, you may use colored pencils, tempera paint, water colors, magazine cut outs for a collage, and/or charcoal.
 - You may create a digital submission only if the creation is 100% yours.
 - For example, superimposing web-based images is not acceptable.
 - Your first and last NAME along with your assigned section must be on the BACK OF the ART ONLY.
- ★ YOU MAY NOT submit works that are on a lined piece of paper, on paper exceeding 8.5x11 inches, only drawn in pencil, not fully colored in, damaged, contain graphic inappropriate content, contain content unrelated to the topic of the Philosophy Slam, and/or plagiarized work.

The art slam submission is due immediately after spring break.
