Good morning, it has come to our attention that for some there is an issue with loading the activity log. Today I uploaded a blank version of the activity log that will allow you to reprint and fill them out weekly. If there are any alterations or requirements, for the week, I will let you know during the weekly activity or announcement. I also wanted to say how much fun it has been to look over last weeks activity log and see how creative all of you have been. Remember our goal is to get you guys up and moving while being creative. Keep it up!!!
