- For Friday, November 6, 2020 you are going to be reading the next two chapters of The Plague → Chapters 9 and 10.
- Continue filling out your dialectic log (example still in the powerpoint under resources "Plague Context and Assignments") - the whole assignment will be due when we finish the book
- Chapter leaders will work on their analysis and upload it to the link that is already on Archie
    - Chapter 9 → Nishka
    - Chapter 10 → Enzo

- In the copy of the book I have, that would be pages 67-91.
- If you're using any other version, I'll give you the first and last lines of each chapter:

Chapter 9:

Starts with → "Part II"

"From now on, it can be said that plague was the concern of all of us."

Ends with → "He had no time for anything."

Chapter 10:

Starts with → "WHILE our townspeople were trying to come to terms with their sudden isolation, the plague was posting sentries at the gates and turning away ships bound for Oran."

Ends with → "Thus he was enabled to follow, and on a different plane, the dreary struggle in progress between each man's happiness and the abstractions of the plague, which constituted the whole life of our town over a long period of time."
