Objective:

English-Philosophy Interdisciplinary Project

An interdisciplinary project is a collaboration that merges two or more academic disciplines into one activity. In this instance, the English and Philosophy Departments seek to evaluate students' analytical and writing skills and their capacity to apply ethical theories to moral dilemmas present in literature.

Requirements:

1. Students will select and read one of the following novels:

*The Metamorphosis *Lord of the Flies *The Great Gatsby

2. Students will write an Abstract in which they identify a moral problem or philosophical concept worthy of analysis in the novel of their choice.

3. Students will write an analytical essay in which they draw connections to the course material explored in Ethics while showcasing their knowledge of English language conventions and MLA Style.

Format: MLA

Length: 3-4 pages (double-spaced)
