

Assignment: Persuasive Letter to Remain in the Creative Writing Class

Dear Students,

It has come to my attention that our class has become overcrowded. While I value each of you as writers and creative thinkers, the class size needs to be adjusted. Consequently, I am asking you to write a letter to me, explaining why you should remain in the class despite the need for reductions.

Assignment Details:

1. Audience: Your audience for this assignment is me.
2. Purpose: The purpose of your letter is to persuade me to allow you to remain in the creative writing class despite the need to reduce the class size.
3. Content: In your letter, you should:
 - Introduce yourself briefly, mentioning your name, grade, and any relevant background or experience in creative writing.
 - State the reasons why you are passionate about creative writing and what you hope to achieve by continuing in this class.
 - Articulate why you believe you should be one of the students to remain in the class. What unique qualities, perspectives, or contributions do you bring that would enrich the class experience for others?
 - Offer a conclusion that summarizes your main points and thanks me for considering your request.
4. Length: Your letter should be approximately 500-600 words in length.
5. Format: Use a formal letter format, including a salutation, body paragraphs, and a closing signature.
6. Creativity: This is a creative writing class, so feel free to infuse your letter with creativity, vivid language, and persuasive techniques.
7. Deadline: The deadline for this assignment is 10/14/23. Late submissions will not be accepted.

Remember, this assignment is not just an exercise in writing, but an opportunity to advocate for yourself and your place in the class. I look forward to reading your persuasive letters!

If you have any questions or concerns about this assignment, please do not hesitate to reach out to me.

Sincerely,

Prof. Daniels
