

October 18 Writing Prompts for Creative Writing

1. Write a story from the perspective of an inanimate object in a room witnessing a significant event. What does it see, hear, and feel?
2. You wake up one day with the ability to understand the thoughts of animals. Write about the first conversation you have with your pet or an encounter with a wild animal.
3. Describe a post-apocalyptic world where the only survivors are children under the age of 10. How do they adapt and rebuild society?
4. You discover a hidden, enchanted library that contains books that can predict the future. Write about your experience and the moral dilemmas that arise from using this knowledge.
5. You find a time machine that can only be used once. Write about the single moment in your life that you would choose to revisit and how it might change your present and future.
