

- For Monday, November 9, 2020 you are going to be reading the next three chapters of The Plague → Chapters 11, 12, and 13.
- Continue filling out your dialectic log (example still in the powerpoint under resources “Plague Context and Assignments”) - the whole assignment will be due when we finish the book
- Chapter leaders will work on their analysis and upload it to the link that is already on Archie
 - Chapter 11 → Camila
 - Chapter 12 → Lucas
 - Chapter 13 → Victor L.
- In the copy of the book I have, that would be pages 92-110.
- If you’re using any other version, I’ll give you the first and last lines of each chapter:

Chapter 11:

Starts with → “But where some saw abstraction others saw the truth.”

Ends with → “And God would see to the rest.”

Chapter 12:

Starts with → “It is hard to say if this sermon had any effect on our townsfolk.”

Ends with → “In fact, what with the heat and the plague, some of our fellow citizens were losing their heads; there had already been some scenes of violence and nightly attempts were made to elude the sentries and escape to the outside world.”

Chapter 13:

Starts with → “Others, too, Rambert for example were trying to escape from this atmosphere of growing panic, but with more skill and persistence, if not with greater success.”

Ends with → “Yes, everyone sleeps at that hour, and this is reassuring, since the great longing of an unquiet heart is to possess constantly and consciously the loved one, or, failing that, to be able to plunge the loved one, when a time of absence intervenes, into a dreamless sleep timed to last unbroken until the day they meet again.”
