

- For Monday, December 7, 2020 you are going to finish reading the The Plague - Chapters 29 and 30.
- Continue filling out your dialectic log (example still in the powerpoint under resources “Plague Context and Assignments”) - the whole assignment will be due after we finish the book
- Chapter leaders will work on their analysis and upload it to the link that is already on Archie - make sure to turn those in by Monday the 7th when we finish the book!
- In the copy of the book I have, that would be pages 293-308 (the end).
- If you’re using any other version, I’ll give you the first and last lines of each chapter:

Chapter 29:

Starts with → “At last, at daybreak on a fine February morning, the ceremonial opening of the gates took place, acclaimed by the populace, the newspapers, the radio, and official communiques.”

Ends with → “And as he turned the corner of the street where Grand and Cottard lived, Rieux was thinking it was only right that those whose desires are limited to a man and his humble yet formidable love should enter, if only now and then, into their reward.”

Chapter 30:

Starts with → “This chronicle is drawing to an end, and this seems to be the moment... ”
