Statement	Agree/Disagree	Reasoning
-----------	----------------	-----------

Anything you can do to better your life or to “get ahead” is acceptable.
Daydreams can become a reality.
In pursuit of your most important and desired dream, it is okay to deceive others.
Money can get you anything.
The American Dream is possible for anyone to achieve.

It is more harmful to lie to yourself than to someone you love.
In order to feel complete and happy, you must be with the one you love.
It is acceptable to wait for your loved one as long as necessary, in order to be together again.
A person's behavior, occupation, and apparel are good indicators of what kind of person they are.

1. How can outward appearances be deceptive?
2. Can wealth breed carelessness?
3. Is attainment of the dream less satisfying than the pursuit of the dream?
4. Your understanding of the American dream is...
