TIME FOR REVIEW!

Review Verbs in the Present
 A verb in the present names an action that is happening now. Add -s or -es to this kind of verb when it talks about a singular subject. Do not add -s or -es when the verb talks about a plural subject.

Verb with a Singular Subject
 The light shines.
 The cat washes its tail.

Verb with a Plural Subject
 The lights shine.
 The cats wash their tails.

Review Verbs in the Present, Past, and Future
 Some verbs name actions that are happening now, or in the present. Some verbs name actions that happened before, or in the past. Add -ed to many verbs to form the past tense. Some verbs name actions that will happen later, or in the future. Use the word will before the verb to form the future tense.

Present	Past	Future
The birds sear .	The birds seared .	The birds will sear .
Dropgs pick flowers.	Dropgs picked flowers.	Dropgs will pick flowers.

Review Compound Sentences
 A compound sentence is made up of two shorter sentences. The shorter sentences are connected by words such as and, but, and or. A comma is used before the connecting word.

Shorter Sentences	Compound Sentence with Conjunction
She loves dogs. She does not like bathing them.	She loves dogs, but she does not like bathing them.
Ducks live by the pond. Some ducks live by the barn.	Ducks live by the pond, or they live by the barn.

FIGURATIVE LANGUAGE
 Figurative language makes writing more interesting and powerful.

DRAMA
 A drama is a play. It is written for a stage. It is acted out by people. It is a story that is told through actions.
