Dear Families,

There will be no additional homework assigned this week. However, there are three classwork assignments on IXL Quizzes that students were expected to complete in class. Some students were unable to finish them, so please have your child complete any unfinished assignments at home.

Additionally, if your child did not score well on any of these assignments and you would like them to have another opportunity, please email me and I will gladly reassign it.

IXL Assignments:

- Classwork: Fractions
- Classwork: Subtraction
- Classwork: Multiplication

Please also check the gradebook and submit any missing assignments if they are still available. This is the last week to submit late assignments.

Thank you for your support!
