

Study-Guide: Unit 12 - Quiz 1 (on Books 1–3 of Plato's Republic)

- Study the definitions of justice given by Cephalus, Polemarchus, and Thrasymachus.
- Study why Socrates thought that justice is better than injustice, and study why Socrates thought that injustice is worse than justice.
- Study what the city-soul analogy is.
- Study what Glaucon thought about happiness and overwhelming pleasure.
- Study the three social classes of the city that Socrates described.
- Study the lifestyle of each one of the three social classes.

Study-Guide: Unit 12 - Quiz 2 (on Book 4 of Plato's Republic)

- Study the objection that Adeimantus made about how Socrates described the three classes of the city, and study how Socrates responded to Adeimantus' objection.
- Study what the city-soul analogy is.
  - Study the three social classes of the city that Socrates described.
  - Study the three parts of the soul, according to Socrates.
  - Study how each part of the city is like each part of the soul, according to Socrates.
- Study how Socrates planned to use a process of elimination to discover what justice is.

- Study how Socrates defined each one of the four cardinal virtues.
- Study how Socrates defined wisdom, study where he thought it is in the city, and study where he thought it is in the soul.
- Study how Socrates defined courage, study where he thought it is in the city, and study where he thought it is in the soul.
- Study how Socrates defined temperance, study where he thought it is in the city, and study where he thought it is in the soul.
- Study how Socrates defined justice, study where he thought it is in the city, and study where he thought it is in the soul.

Study-Guide: Unit 12 Test (on Books 1–4 of Plato’s Republic)

- Study the definitions of justice given by Cephalus, Polemarchus, and Thrasymachus
- Study what Thrasymachus had to say about wisdom and justice.
- Study why Socrates thought that justice is better than injustice, and study why Socrates thought that injustice is worse than justice.
- Study the three social classes of the city that Socrates described.
- Study the lifestyle of each one of the three social classes.
- Study the objection that Adeimantus made about how Socrates described the three classes of the city, and study how Socrates responded to Adeimantus’ objection.

- Study what the city-soul analogy is.
  - Study the three social classes of the city that Socrates described.
- Study the three parts of the soul, according to Socrates.
- Study how each part of the city is like each part of the soul, according to Socrates.
- Study how Socrates planned to use a process of elimination to discover what justice is.

- Study how Socrates defined each one of the four cardinal virtues.
- Study how Socrates defined wisdom, study where he thought it is in the city, and study where he thought it is in the soul.
- Study how Socrates defined courage, study where he thought it is in the city, and study where he thought it is in the soul.
- Study how Socrates defined temperance, study where he thought it is in the city, and study where he thought it is in the soul.
- Study how Socrates defined justice, study where he thought it is in the city, and study where he thought it is in the soul.