

Reading/ELA Homework

MONDAY

- Complete 1 iReady Lesson

TUESDAY

- Complete Reading Skills Review Worksheet #1

WEDNESDAY

- Complete 1 iReady Lesson

THURSDAY

- Read: It's Our Garden (HMH)
- Take Selection Quiz: It's Our Garden (HMH)

FRIDAY

- Complete 1 iReady Lesson

Tests/Quizzes

- Portfolios This Week: 4/2 & 4/3 (Wed. and Thurs.)
- Module 9 Test Friday 4/4

Reminders

- Final Portfolio Testing Dates:
  - Wednesday 4/2 & Thursday 4/3
**Two Week Break for Skill Review**
  - Tuesday 4/22 & Wednesday 4/23
  - Wednesday 4/30
- Please bring headphones for iPad use
- Read the 3rd Grade Newsletter (sent by Mrs. Diana Charaf each Monday)

From Ms. Alvarez & Ms. Llanes

Making Inferences

Name: _____

The Best Morning

Sitting on the edge of his bed, Danny was overwhelmingly excited. If this was not the best day of the year for every kid, he did not know what was! As soon as the first beam of light came through his bedroom blinds, he woke up and raced down the freezing stairs, loudly banging on his sister's white door as he ran. The snow was gently drifting through the morning air, as hundreds of overexcited children were waking up across the country.

Danny had hardly slept a single wink and had spent most of the night thinking about his wish list. He had lain snug inside his toasty warm bed, desperately trying to hear footsteps on the roof or the giggling animal sounds of reindeer. There had not been a single sound, though Danny thought he had heard some banging but realized it was just the wind tapping at his window. But as he arrived in the living room he saw that the tall glass of cold milk he had left out had been drunk and the cookie had been eaten. He knew exactly who had enjoyed them!

Danny leapt straight across the small living room towards the enormous stack of beautifully wrapped presents sitting neatly under a large green tree. His younger and slightly annoying sister sprinted behind him, screaming loudly in a silly attempt to wake up their parents. They both knew they could not open a thing without them. Danny grabbed a smallish present and shook it wildly. He could not wait another moment!

The present in his hands made a hard rattling sound, like lots of minuscule pieces of tiny plastic were smashing around inside a cardboard box. Danny had absolutely no idea what it could be. He noticed a small gap, as the wrapping had lifted at its edges and could clearly see into the top corner of the box. He peeked into the box and saw a large red 'I' from a logo, which he immediately recognized. He always loved making things and knew he would be spending most of the day putting together the pieces sitting in this box.

Making Inferences

Name: _____

TASK: Answer the question by finding clues in the text and recording them.

INFERENCE 1: What day is it?

What is the evidence in the text?

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.

INFERENCE 2: What kind of present could be inside Danny's box?

What is the evidence in the text?

- 1.
- 2.

INFERENCE 3: How do you know what holiday it is? Choose 2 pieces of evidence.

- ☐ A It's his birthday because the present in the picture is blue.
- ☐ B It's Christmas because he left a glass of milk out for Santa.
- ☐ C It's Christmas because all the kids in the neighborhood are excited, not just Danny.
- ☐ D It's his birthday because the story says he woke up excitedly and thought about his wishlist.