Elves in Trouble

Most people know that elves are small, but not many people know how small. They are actually about as tall as a ruler. Just the other day Santa's elves got in some trouble. They wanted to decorate the Christmas tree in the workshop to surprise Mrs. Claus and Santa. They went to the workshop in the middle of the night. A ladder had been left by the tree, which they used to climb up and pass ornaments up and rested them on branches by the trunk of the tree. When everything was up there that they needed, all of the elves climbed into the branches of the tree. They started to decorate when they heard Santa coming. They quickly hid, but realized too late that Santa had seen the ladder and moved it. They were stuck!
